PROTEST AGAINST FAMINE SURTAX SENT TO PEKING

Chinese And Foreign Organisations Wire Again To Officials

DRIVE HERE PROGRESSING

Canvassers Busy But Fear Effect Of Government's Stand

Another effort is being made by local Chinese merchants, through their commercial organisations, to get the Peking Government to reconsider the stand it has taken on the matter of collecting the likin surtax.

It is also understood that several foreign organisations here are lending their support to the protest and are wiring the foreign Ministries at the capital in regard to the matter.

While the drive is going forward here at a commendable rate and the canvassing teams are reporting a good response in contributions, local famine workers are apprehensive that the government's attitude over the surtax will militate seriously against the success of the campaign for funds.

An interview with General Lu Yung-hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang, as quoted in a Tientsin paper, is cited by workers and merchants here as a clear indication that the money secured through the collection of the likin will be diverted to political uses, instead of to the relief of the starving thousands in the North.

The article in question quotes General Lu as replying in the following terms when asked his opinion about the gradual transformation of soldiers to laborers.

"I have actually built some military roads in Shanghai and attained fairly successful results. At present in Chekiang schemes have been started to build various highways in the province. It is to be financed from the ten percent famine surtax. A sum of $450,000 is expected from this source. Originally the plan was that only famine victims should be employed, but the cost of famine labor far exceeds that of soldiers, who are paid only a nominal extra pay. Furthermore the workmanship of the latter is of a better quality. I shall continue here my experiment in Shanghai so that the community will get the benefit of the soldier labor."

Local merchants and others interested in the famine relief drive hold that General Lu's statement removes all doubt as to the intention of applying the funds secured by the likin surtax to political purposes.

The soldiers, it is argued, are sufficiently well paid and well fed and the bonus that would be given them simply means the subtraction of urgently needed sums from the money which is to be collected ostensibly only for the alleviation of the suffering districts. Not only that, but it means an increase in living costs for the general public, it is contended, for the merchants do not believe that the surtax, once established, will ever be reduced by Peking, and prices on commodities will have to be advanced they declare, to meet it.

Harding Appeals For Famine Relief

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, March 13.—An appeal to the American people to "do everything in their power" towards the relief of the famine in China has been issued by President Harding.

"At this, the earliest practical moment of my administration," says the appeal, "I desire to add my voice to the many appeals on behalf of the starving people of a large section of China.

"The picture of China's distress is so tragic that I am moved to express the hope that the American people will continue to make its contribution to this humanitarian cause as great as possible.

"A cry of horror comes from the people, far distant, but bound to us by manifold ties of friendly association, confidence and good will. The American nation has never failed to demonstrate its friendship for the people of China and that friendship has always been reciprocated."

SILK OUTLOOK IN U.S. IMPROVED, STOCKS DWINDLE

Situation Better Than Any Time For Year, Show Successful

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Feb. 10, (by mail). Statistics issued yesterday showed that the stock of raw silk in warehouses has declined from 44,536 bales to 31,859 bales since January 1, while the consumption for the month of January is set down at 22,176 bales, as compared with 9,499 bales a month ago, these latter figures representing the silk movement for the period. A year ago there were over 68,000 bales of raw silk in warehouses in this country, and it was the immense loans on them, and the value of the insurance placed, that brought the great accumulation to public attention. The dissipation of the surplus in a year has been accompanied with a fall in stocks at Yokohama to 35,000 bales, according to the last reports received here, so that statistically, the trade is in a stronger position than it has been for a great while.

The Silk Show has been a great surprise to the trade, as well as one of the most popular events of its kind ever seen in this country. Japanese, Chinese and British workers and trade delegations are represented in special booths showing the development of the industry, and the manner and methods of production, while the fashion or trade end is represented by a display of silks of all kinds in booths, in hangings, and on living models, the latter including some of the most popular stage-folk in this country. The attendance has been extraordinary. Retail buyers are in the city in great numbers and the stores are making special silk displays all over the country, this latter feature to be exploited still further by a national silk week in retail stores in two weeks from now.

Production is increasing rapidly, and merchants are feeling better than at any time in more than a year.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, March 14.—The number of Belgian civilians who were killed during the war, and whose bodies have been identified up to the present, amounts, according to recent official statistics, to 4,934. The number of Belgians who were deported to Germany, and who died there in the prisons and internment camps, totals 1,311. Finally, the civilians deported to, and killed on, the German front in France and Flanders, number 1,221. Altogether there is a total of 7,466 civilian victims.

BRITISH NAVAL PROGRAM CALLS FOR REDUCTIONS

Many Ships To Be Placed In Reserve, Personnel To Be Cut

WILL SAVE £14,000,000

Admiralty "To Assume Risks Which Would Not Be Considered Ordinarily"

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 14.—The Naval Estimates for the financial year 1921-2 amount approximately to £91,000,000 gross and £82,500,000 nett, as compared with £105,000,000 and £91,000,000, respectively, in 1920-1.

A number of economies are to be effected, including the reduction in the number of capital ships in full commission from twenty to sixteen, the placing of one Atlantic destroyer flotilla in reserve, the reduction of the North American and South African squadrons by one light cruiser each, the complete temporary withdrawal of the South American squadron, and the reduction of the personnel to 121,700.

Eight obsolescent capital ships are to be transferred to the disposal list, thus reducing the number of capital ships on the effective list to thirty (including the Australian ship Australia) of which fourteen will be in reserve. A sum of £2,500,000 is included in the estimates as the first instalment for the replacement of capital ships.

A memorandum accompanying the Estimates shows that the non-recurrent war liabilities amount to £8,250,000, including £3,250,000 for the completion of a light cruiser, aircraft carriers, destroyers and submarines begun during the war.

SEEK EFFICIENCY

After detailing the economies mentioned above, the Memorandum says that the reduced Navy must be maintained at the highest possible state of efficiency; hence the battleships Hercules, Colossus, Neptune, St. Vincent, Collingwood, Temeraire, Bellerophon and Superb will be transferred to the disposal list.

Of the thirty capital ships on the effective list, the older types, says the memorandum, are becoming obsolescent, and cannot be reckoned as efficient fighting units for more than a few years. The need for their gradual replacement by modern ships, embodying the lessons of the war, can no longer be disregarded. It must be remembered, the Memorandum points out, that no capital ship has been laid down or completed since 1916.

"It cannot be too strongly emphasised," the Memorandum continues, "that, in making this long-delayed beginning towards the replacement of obsolete ships, the Government neither commits itself to, nor contemplates, building programs in answer to those of any other Power. Indeed, the Government trusts that it may be possible, as the result of frank and friendly discussion with the principal naval Powers, to avoid anything approaching competitive building. Meanwhile it would be a dereliction of duty to allow the efficiency, training and morale of the Navy to deteriorate through neglect to provide it with material equal to the best, and in which it can feel confidence. 6 SINN FEINERS HANGED; 20,000 VOICE PROTESTS

Insurgents Executed At Dublin After Reprieve Pleas Fail

WHOLE CITY QUITS WORK

King And Premier Refuse Lord Mayor's Request To Interfere

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 14.—Six Sinn Feiners were hanged in Dublin this morning. Two were convicted of murder, in connection with the massacre of officers in Dublin last November and the remaining four of high treason, by participating in an ambush. The men were hanged in pairs, at intervals of an hour.

Extraordinary efforts had been made to secure a reprieve, including a telegram from the Lord Mayor of Dublin to the King and the Premier but they remained fruitless. Work was stopped in Dublin in the forenoon as a protest and the postal and telegraph services were suspended. A crowd estimated at 20,000 collected outside the jail.

SOVIET CHIEFS FLEE PETROGRAD, LOSSES SEVERE

City Captured By Revolutionists, Says Despatch From Riga

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

New York, March 14.—A London telegram reports that, according to a Times despatch from Riga, it is said that the Bolshevik leaders have escaped from Petrograd, following the capture of the city by the revolutionists. It is added that the Soviet troops are suffering heavy losses.

Paris, March 14.—Official advices from Constantinople record that the insurrectionary movement in the Caucasus is gaining ground. The Don Cossacks have revolted en masse.

General Budienny has informed the Soviet Government that he is unable to lend it assistance against the rebels because the majority of his own regiments are themselves composed of Cossacks.

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 15.—The Bolshevik censorship regarding the Kronstadt outbreak is being very strictly maintained. It appears, however, that the rebels, while still unsubdued, are suffering from a serious shortage of food, and it is probable that the Soviet forces will be able to starve them out if the Reds remain loyal.

Germany To Aid Ship Reconstruction

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, March 14.—The Reichstag has ratified an agreement between the Government and the ship-owners, sanctioning a total grant of 12,000,000,000 marks for the reconstruction of the German mercantile marine.

The ship owners pledge themselves to build at least one-third of their former tonnage within ten years. Two-thirds of the sum granted has already been handed over.

Chief Fire Officer Petl's Many Warnings Unheeded

1913	Early consideration of the matter of more and closer placed hydrants advocated.
1914	Attention called to need for consideration of better water supply. More hydrants. Advocates inside protection systems for large buildings.
1915	Remedy of water supply urged. Insufficient number of hydrants emphasised.
1916	Water supply generally cited as serious menace.
1917	High-pressure water supply cited as only means of coping with fires in large buildings. Call for large number of new hydrants repeated; present (1917) lot entirely insufficient and mostly inefficient.
1918	Water supply and pressure deficient even for lower class buildings. Paucity of hydrants re-emphasised. Construction and methods of loading warehouses condemned.
1919	No improvement in water supply, "but the reverse." General lack of hydrants. Disaster predicted unless water supply is remedied.
1920	Water supply grown worse. Hydrant question deplorable. Method of storing goods and overloading of warehouses condemned. Interior protection systems again urged for big buildings.

GREEKS RESENT CONCESSIONS BY ALLIES TO TURKS

Whole Nation Ready To Take Up Arms To Defend "Aspirations"

KEMALISTS LAUD FRENCH

Express Hope That A Formal Treaty Of Alliance May Be Drawn

(Reuter's Service)

London, March 14.—The Greek Legation in London has received a telegram from Athens stating that the entire Greek press declared the concessions demanded from Greece in favor of Turkey are an attack upon the fundamental clauses of the Treaty of Sevres.

The whole of Greece is ready to enforce at any price respect for her national aspirations. Greece disposes on the spot of military forces capable of quickly dispersing the rebels in Asia Minor, and she prefers to suffer the fresh sacrifices entailed by rapid military operations in order to end the present indefinite situation.

Paris, March 12 (delayed).—Following the signature of the Franco-Turkish Agreement, Bekir Sami Bey, the Kemalist delegate to the London Conference, in an interview with a representative of the Petit Journal, said that Turkey would never forget that the happy results reached in London were to a large extent due to France's friendly intervention.

He expressed the hope that a formal alliance would soon be concluded between Turkey and France, who together ruled over millions of Moslems and the most humane and enlightened of the Islamic nations.

Trade Representative Of Chita Government Here

When trade standings and agreements between China and the powers generally are concluded with the new-born Far Eastern Republic, vast commercial opportunities that are now taking form with the growth of the new government will be realised to their full, says Mr. Boris Torgasheff, who is Commercial Attache of the Far Eastern Republic at Peking and who now is a visitor in Shanghai.

The new government on China's northern border extends its rule through all Far Eastern Siberia from Lake Baikal to Vladivostok and the sea, including Kamchatka and the Russian owned half of Saghalien. It grew out of the turmoil of the years immediately following the war and is said to be an expression of the people of Siberia of a desire for a return to law and order and to normal life. The first step to form the new government was taken after the various community centers in Siberia set up local governments. Some six months ago representatives of these various local governments assembled at Verkne Udinsk and after naming A. Krasnoshekoff provisional president, arranged also for the holding of the assembly which now is in session at Chita, capital of the Far Eastern Republic.

Some 400 representatives are attending this Chita assembly, these having been elected from the various districts in an election held some two months ago. One by one the various questions in connection with the formation of the new government are being worked out by the Chita assembly, Mr. Torgasheff said yesterday.

While these things are being done the development of the country is to be proceeded with as rapidly as may be and supporters of the new government hold the belief that recognition from the powers, together with commercial treaties, will bring about a golden era of expansion and growth from which traders of other countries may profit hugely.

Mr. Torgasheff said yesterday that while agreements had been reached between the Far Eastern Republic and the Soviet Government at Moscow no relation exists between the two, and he explained the Moscow Government was well content to see development in Siberia carried out by a new government there without interfering with it. Under agreements with Moscow he said traffic on the railway line has been restored with a number of trains running weekly to Moscow on a ten-day schedule. Mr. Torgasheff added that by reason of these agreements with the Moscow Government it will be able to establish postal and general traffic connections by rail with points in Europe and to Britain when all adjustments are made.

The representative of the Far Eastern Republic stated that his visit to Shanghai has been made in connection with furthering the commercial interests of the new government and to explain the opportunities that await in the north.

In the afternoon, M. Millerand visited the Lyons Fair, the success of which is becoming more manifest every day.

TO MAKE SALADS SAFE IN SHANGHAI

Hotel Company Buys Truck Farm And Will Grow Its Own Vegetables

Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., yesterday completed the purchase of 21 mow of land adjacent to the property of the Hungjao Golf Club. This is very good news for residents of the hotels operated by the company for the plan is to turn the newly acquired property into a vegetable and salad garden the output of which will be served exclusively to the hotel guests.

The management announces that the garden will be placed under the supervision of an experienced European truck gardener and that the best foreign seed and fertiliser will be used. Only such vegetables and salads as are ordinarily served uncooked will be grown, the system being similar to that followed by the Canadian Pacific Railroad's hotels.

TEUTONS TO STOP WORK AS PROTEST AGAINST TAX

Manufacturers Threaten To Declare Walkout In Occupied Zone

BRITISH HESITATE

Some Journals And Members Of Parliament See "Flareback"

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, March 14.—The manufacturers of Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Ruhrort, inspired by the Stinnes group, have decided to declare a lockout as a protest against the extended Allied occupation and aim at the stoppage of production in that district.

London, March 14.—The British business view of the economic sanctions against Germany is the theme of a special article in The Times, which declared that the scheme for applying part of the purchase price of imports from Germany towards the discharge of her liabilities thrusts a stick into the complicated mechanism of commerce and that the manufacturers, warehousemen, merchants, banks, accepting houses and bill brokers are eyeing it askance.

Their opinion is that at the worst it may result in the total cessation of German imports, and that at the best it will so hamper imports that they will be appreciably reduced in volume and increased in price.

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

New York, March 14.—According to advices from Essen, bitter hostility prevails against the Allied plan of establishing a customs frontier, where German exports will be taxed.

The heads of the great industrial houses at Essen are outspoken in their criticism, and say they will lose huge contracts, and that there is the prospect of trade becoming stagnant.

They declare that the workmen will be the chief sufferers and that the entire Ruhr basin, if not the whole of Germany, will be practically damaged if the Entente carry out the heavy taxation of Rhineland exports.

New York, March 14.—A Duesseldorf message states that General Degoutte has ordered the disbandment and removal from that city of 1,500 Security Police.

CRITICISM IN HOUSE

London, March 14.—The criticisms in certain sections of the press and other quarters in regard to the soundness of the Allied commercial sanctions were re-echoed in the House of Commons today, in the course of the debate on the Reparations Recovery Bill.

The Labor and Liberal members especially condemned the measure, on the ground that it would increase the cost of living in Great Britain and injure our export trade. Moreover, it was urged that the yield from this source would be incommensurate with the dangers and difficulties entailed.

Mr. Lloyd George replied that if the German Government honored the Allied receipts, which would be given German sellers against half the purchase price of the goods exported to Allied countries, the bill would work smoothly, but that, in the event of its refusal to do so, the bill would operate as a penalty by excluding German goods from Great Britain.

London, March 15.—The House of Commons has passed the second reading of the Reparations Recovery Bill.

London, March 15.—The plebiscite in Upper Silesia opens on March 20. The apprehensions entertained in Paris that the German reactionaries will profit by the occasion to stir up disorders have already been justified by a telegram received by Reuter's Berlin correspondent from Koenigshuette, to the effect that a captain of the German Plebiscite Police had been shot while driving through a wood with British and French officers, and also that a collision had occurred between the plebiscite police and some Poles at Michalkowitz, in which several poles and two police officers were killed, and six police officers wounded.

is also imperative to avoid the irrevocable loss of time due to a shortage of building facilities, which might make it impossible to maintain our security at sea, if threatened."

It is pointed out that the forthcoming Imperial Conference in June will give a welcome opportunity for discussing fully with the Dominion representatives the problem of naval policy in its relation to the Empire as a whole, and for the considerations of suggestions for mutual co-operation.

DOMINION NAVIES

The lines on which it is proposed to proceed are towards the development of Dominion Navies under the administrative and executive command of their own officers, each separate Navy being the responsibility of its own Government, and imbued with the particular characteristics and spirit of its own people; all, however, working in close co-operation, under the guidance of a common doctrine. If a war occurred, in which the Empire as a whole took part, the various component Navies would work in harmony, in accordance with a general strategical policy previously decided upon.

To ensure such intelligent co-operation, common principles of command and staff work are required, and it can only be developed by a uniform system of staff training. It is proposed to make gradual progress in this direction by the appointment of Dominion officers to the Naval Staff of the Admiralty, and arranging for a certain proportion of Dominion officers each year to undergo a naval staff course at the Staff College.

Denniston Players To Open Tonight

The Denniston Players, who on their former visit to Shanghai scored so signally with theatergoers here, are returning this week and are to open an engagement of three weeks at the Lyceum theater tonight.

"Eyes of Youth," Max Marcin's great play, which proved to be a wonderful success through a long American run and which has been termed 'the greatest play of the decade,' is to be the opening offering of the Bennision company. This also is to be presented at the matinee on Saturday.

On Friday night the offering is to be "She Walked in Her Sleep," Mark Swan's great farce which also has a long record of success behind it.

American Woman's Club

Selections from the works of the older American poets featured the meeting of the American Woman's Club, held yesterday afternoon at the Carlton Cafe. The program was arranged by Mrs. John H. Snoke, club librarien, who prefaced the selections with a short talk on the early history of American literature. Selections from eleven poets were given in recitation and song. A chorus from the Shanghai American School sang two numbers and Mrs. H. I. McLaughlin contributed several solos.

During the preliminary business meeting, announcement was made of an open meeting of the Musical Department to be held under the direction of Miss Frances Adams at the Carlton Cafe on March thirty-first. It was also announced that the club's contribution to the Famine Relief Fund now amounted to $1,350, not including the contributions made by members through other channels. The nominating committee proposed 21 names, bringing the total number of new members for the year to 170.

Mrs. James McDonnell of the Social Service Department reported that $752 was realised from the Christmas sale, $250 of which has been pledged to the Moral Welfare Association. The department is planning a children's entertainment to be held during May.

According to the announcement of its chairman, Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, the next meeting of the Literary Department will take place on March twenty-second, instead of March twenty-fifth. Miss Winifred Muir is to read a paper on "The Architecture of the Guild Halls."

Before the close of the business session, Mrs. J. Q. Dealy of Providence, Rhode Island, was formally introduced to the club by Mrs. C. S. Lobingier, to present the greetings of her home state. Professor Dealy recently came to Shanghai as exchange professor from Brown University to the Shanghai Baptist College.

The Mothers' Department, of which Mrs. W. G. Hiltner is chairman, will hold a meeting at 10:30 this morning at the Carlton Cafe.

LITERARY MEETING

The Literary Department of the Woman's Club will meet on next Tuesday instead of on Friday of next week, as previously announced.

KIANGSU PEOPLE DEMAND VOICE IN GOVERNMENT

Society Passes Resolution To Participate In Local Administration

(China Press Correspondence)

Wusih, March 14.—At the second annual meeting of the Kiangsu Society which was held here during the week just ended, it was decided by the society that steps would immediately be taken to begin the construction of motor roads throughout the Southern part of the province.

The society also passed a resolution declaring that the people of Kiangsu should have a voice in the government of their own province. It was decided that the society would take action to bring this about.

The Kiangsu Society's membership includes powerful men in the province and from every section of the province, among them several mill owners, merchants and men who have held high official positions. Among these latter is an ex-governor and an ex-cabinet minister.

The fact that such men meet together and pass resolutions intended to bring about the virtual independence of the province seems to show that the power of the clique of military governors who have misruled China for so long has all but passed away in this part of the country.

It is set forth in the petition that in November, 1920, the bank advanced the sum of Tls. 15,126.05 on the security of 13 motor cars remaining in the possession of the defendant company. Release Policeman In Robbery Case

The robbery case in which a Chinese police constable of the Municipal force and a sub-inspector of the Chinese police force were involved came up before Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Kwan in the Mixed Court yesterday, when the latter accused was dismissed. The police constable has absconded, but the two other men involved were sentenced to nine months' imprisonment each.

The evidence was to the effect that three of the men had gone to the home of the complainant, who lived at 559 Medhurst Road, for the purpose of extorting money on the strength of a report that he had received a quantity of smuggled opium. It was shown that the only part played by the Chinese inspector, who was represented by Mr. H. D. Rodger, was the writing of a letter arranging a meeting with the complainant.

Mr. J. Em. Lemiere appeared for the prosecution.

Special Advantages of the Silent Keyless Clock.

1. Extreme simplicity. 2. Reliability. 3. It is practically noiseless. 4. It automatically adjusts itself to irregularities of shelf or mantelpiece. 5. It beats true seconds. 6. It combines the efficiency of a "Grandfather" pendulum with a 4" case. 7. Variations due to atmospheric changes are reduced to a minimum because the centre of gravity is within an eighth of an inch of the centre of motion. 8. The pivots of the compound pendulum, rolling in their curved recess, cause the pendulum to describe a cycloidal arc. 9. It cannot get out of beat. 10. There are no keys to lose. 11. There are no springs to break. 12. The design of the escapement reduces friction to the minimum. 13. The clock itself is its own driving power. 14. It shows at a glance when it needs winding. 15. The driving force is constant. 16. The design lends itself to new varieties of artistic treatment. 17. It requires no oil. 18. An extraordinary reduction of strain on working parts, giving long life.

BRITISH STAGE FOLK IN DIVORCE

Old Question Of Environment Is Much Discussed At Hearing

London, Jan. 29.—The many names of actors and actresses which appear in the present divorce court list has again aroused widespread discussion of the question whether the life and requirements of the theatrical profession tend to destroy the possibility of ideal domestic happiness.

On the list is the undefended divorce suit of Lady Victor Paget against Lord Victor Paget, brother of Lord Anglesey. Lady Paget was Miss Olive May, a Gaiety actress. Miss Iris Hoey (Mrs. I. W. W. Leeds) is bringing an action for restitution of conjugal rights. Miss Hoey married Max Leeds, the actor. Miss Lily St. John (Mrs. L. Gran) has entered a petition for divorce from her husband, Major Tryggve Gran, the Norwegian explorer-airman, who was the first airman to fly across the North Sea. Miss Muriel Pratt (Mrs. Bridges-Adams), the actress, is petitioning for the nullification of her marriage to W. Bridges-Adams, the producer of Shakespearian plays.

Miss Margaret Bannerman (Mrs. M. Holme-Summer) is asking for a judicial separation from her husband, known on the stage as Pat Somerset. They were married in 1919 while acting together in "Three Wise Fools."

Try the Remarkable New Hair-Root Nourisher. Notice Difference in a Few Days.

FIX $332 COST OF WOMAN'S OUTFIT

Chicago Fashion Experts Include Only Necessities In Their Estimates

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Experts who are preparing for the forthcoming annual Fashion Show at the First Regiment Armory agree that the minimum sum required to supply a woman with a complete outfit is $332.75. That is postively the lowest figure and takes in only the absolute necessities, as follows:

Union suits, $7 to $10; corsets, $3 to $25 and up; silk hose, $4 and up; shoes, $10 and up; chemise or teddy, $3.75 and up; bloomers or petticoat, $2 and up; camisole, $2 and up; all-day frock (cheapest), $25 to $175; street suit, $50 to $500; hat, $15 and up; evening gown, $75 to $500; top coat, $110 to $1,000; nightgown, $5 and up; Panama negligee, $18 to $300.

This does not include gloves, veils, rubbers and other articles that go to make up a complete outfit. Garment manufacturers say the popularity of bloomers is not crowding the petticoat off the market. New skirts will demand full petticoats and the makers expect to sell two petticoats to one pair of bloomers.

KINGS OF JUNGLE PRESS AGENTS

Start Mystery, Then Play To Crowded Houses

Paris, Jan. 29.—For several nights persons living in the big hotels around the Place Vendome were made uneasy by strange sounds which they could not place. They were totally unlike any of the ordinary traffic noises of a great city—seeming neither human nor mechanical. One of the many startled women who were kept awake said the sounds put her in mind of a giant with the asthma, but of course everybody knew that the day of giants was past. Nights passed and the general uneasiness grew until finally a newly arrived guest at one of the hotels—a big game hunter who knew his Africa—solved the mystery.

No sooner had he heard the sound than he sat up in bed and exclaimed: "Lions!"

Investigation disclosed that the weird sounds indeed were being made by lions—a whole troupe of them which were performing in one of the nearby theaters.

After the discovery everybody laughed—much relieved—and what's more, everybody wanted to take a look at those lions, with the result that the kings of the jungle have been playing to crowded houses. The lions had been their own best press agents.

SHANGHAI BRANCH OF NAVY LEAGUE HAS ITS MEETING

A new committee was selected and the annual report accepted at a meeting of the Shanghai Branch of the Navy League, held yesterday afternoon at 3a Peking Road. According to the committee report, there are 405 members on the books, of whom 295 have paid subscriptions during the past year.

An urgent appeal for new members and increased subscriptions was made by Sir Everard Fraser, president of the local organisation, at he close of the report. The president extended thanks to Jardine, Mathoson and Company for making possible the formation of a Union Jack Club in Ichang, and to the Race Club for its aid in conducting the Union Jack Club of Snanghai. The club maintains recreation rooms, athletic grounds and dormitories for the use of British navy men visiting the port.

A circular describing the objects of the League has been prepared as a means of attracting new members. The main purpose of the Parent League is the creation of a definite policy among all British subjects for the maintenance of a navy commensurate with the needs of the Empire. In addition, the Shanghai Branch promotes social and recreation clubs for bluejackets, entertains naval men on appropriate occasions, obtains various comforts for them not provided by the government, and makes an annual grant to Hanbury Institute. Those wishing to become members are asked to send their application and $5 for their first annual subscription to the secretary and treasurer at 2 Kiukiang Road.

The following officers were elected: President, Sir Everard Fraser; secretary and treasurer, E. S. Wilkinson; national society representatives; E. C. Pierce, St. George's Society; C. G. S. Mackay, St. Andrew's Society; D. P. Griffith, St. Patrick's Society; and Reverend Evan Morgan, St. David's Society. Other members of the committee are Dean Symons, E. F. Bateman, A Brooke-Smith, J. Prentice, E. F. Mackay, P. A. Cox, C. Biron, and C. H. Godfrey.

French Actresses In Paris Hotel Fight

One Loses Collar Of Pearls Found To Be Paste; Faces Slapped

Paris, Jan. 29.—Mlle. Jane Renouardt, a popular French actress who gained considerable notoriety recently when a jealous rival threw a bunch of violets covered with sticky chocolates in her face during a performance, has again become a victim of her temperament. As a climax to a controversy in the Claridge Hotel here she slapped the face of another actress, Mlle. Aline Campbell, and according to Mlle. Campbell, Mlle. Renouardt's outburst caused her to lose a valuable collar of pearls, which was revovered only with great difficulty, Mlle. Campbell asked damages for the scratches on her face and neck which she attributed to Mlle. Renouardt.

What is in Paris theatrical circles not the least sensational phase of the case is the discovery by the Paris police to whom the Hotel Claridge employees promptly turned over Mlle. Campbell's collar of pearls as soon as they found it, that instead of being worth 100,000 francs, as Mlle. Campbell asserted, the "pearls" are of the commonest kind of paste.

Mlle. Campbell now declares she has been "buncoed" by a man well known about Paris, who has for months posed as her suitor and who represented the collar, which was a gift from him, as genuine.

TSINGTAO MAN NAMED COACH FOR OLYMPIC

Dr. Arthur Torrance Of University Will Aid In Selection

MANY MEETS ANNOUNCED

Games In Various Centers Of China Scheduled For Early In May

Dr. Arthur Torrance, president of Tsingtao University Preparatory Academy, was named yesterday as the Tsingtao representative of the China Contest Committee and Dr. Torrance and his assistants on the faculty at T. U. P. A. will aid in the selection and training of men for China's Olympic team from Tsingtao and other points in Shantung Province.

Dr. Torrance has done much, through his new school, to boost athletics in the former German port and the Academy will probably send an all-around track and field team here in May to compete in the open meet which will be held in connection with the Far East Championship Games. There is also a possibility that the Academy will ask to send a crew or two to the interport regatta here in May.

MEETS ARE SCHEDULED

The appointment of a representative in Tsingtao completes the network of coaches and trainers which is to comb China for all available athletic talent.

And their attention will be turned to athletic meets which will be held in various sections between now and May 30. But one meet has been held, that for Fukien Province which was staged in Amoy last Fall and gave Coaches Leake and Bradshaw a good line on the available material from this district. Dr. J. H. Gray, honorary secretary of the Contest Committee, was the referee at the Amoy meet and saw the Fukien athletes perform.

The East China meet is scheduled to be held at Shanghai some time early in May and an open meet for Chinese athletes who are not students at any of the colleges in the E. C. I. A. A. will be held at the same time.

The Yangtsze Valley meet is on the last week in April, the Canton meet starts, April 15, the North China association holds its annual meet May 19 and 20 at Mukden and the Hongkong meet is scheduled for May 17 to May 19.

GRAY TO LECTURE

Dr. John H. Gray is to give a talk to the St. John's University student body tonight and will show movies of the 1915 meet. He will speak at Shanghai College Friday night.

Your Health Comes First

Good Health is your most valuable asset;—its preservation should, therefore, receive your most careful consideration. An important point which should always be borne in mind is the fact that a great many forms of ill-health can be traced, directly or indirectly, to disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is wise, therefore, to keep these organs in healthy activity. When they show any signs of derangement let that reliable medicine, Beecham's Pills, be taken at once. Always deal with digestive ailments in time. They are far-reaching in their possibilities of mischief if neglected, as they too often are. And yet it is generally easy to keep fit and well and free from many debilitating ailments by the simple use of Shanghai And Hongkew Wharf Co., Ltd.

The general meeting of shareholders of the Shanghai and Hongkew Wharf Co., Ltd., was held yesterday at the offices of the general agents, Messrs. Jardine, Matheson, and Co., Ltd. —Mr. A. Brooke Smith presiding. He was supported by Messrs. P. A. Cox, H. W. Lester, C. Biron, and Pan Ching-poo, directors, and shareholders representing 7,344 shares.

The notice convening the meeting and auditors' report having been read, the chairman said:

Gentlemen.—With your permission I will take the report and accounts as read, as they have been in your hands for some days.

It gives your directors great pleasure to be able to present a very satisfactory showing for the past year, and I trust the proposed allocation of the balance at credit of profit and loss account will have your approval.

Compared with 1919 the profit for the year shows an increase of Taels 290,193.73 and is the best on record since 1907.

An interim dividend of Taels 3 was declared last August and I hope the proposed final dividend of Taels 10 will have your approval.

In view of the present cost of materials and labor your directors consider it desirable to set aside Taels 60,000 for ordinary and Taels 75,000 for special repairs and renewals, also to build up the depreciation fund, inaugurated last year, with an appropriation of Taels 50,000, to bring this reserve to Tls. 75,000.

Since 1907 it has not been possible to add to equalisation of dividends, but the suggested appropriation of Tae's 50,000 will augment that fund to Taels 75,000.

Last year a bonus of 10 percent was granted to the foreign staff at the wharves, but in view of the gratifying result of the past twelve months the directors have thought it desirable to recommend the payment of 15 percent, absorbing Taels 8,266.50.

I can assure you that this recognition of the services of the staff is well merited.

The staff provident fund, sanctioned by you last year, has come into operation and is much appreciated.

During the year no debentures have been purchased as all available funds have been required for development purposes.

From the balance sheet it will be seen that we have disposed of part of the Old Ningpo Wharf for Taels 348,757.50, this was the portion bordering on Broadway and your directors felt that, with the increased cost of labor, it was advisable to sell and use the proceeds to develop the property fronting the river, thus ensuring economical and expeditious working.

On addition during 1920 we expended Taels 691,770.89, which, together with the amounts disbursed in 1918 and 1919 and the balance of existing contracts (Taels 433,437.62), means that our development program will cost in the neighborhood of 13 lakhs.

I need hardly remark that the additions which came into operation during 1920, assisted our earning capacity, and I have no hesitation in saying that we shall not regret the expenditure already referred to.

Greatly needed repairs to two transit sheds and 200 feet of the wharf at our Hongkew property have been effected, as also many minor improvements.

At Old Ningpo Wharf a new three storied reinforced concrete godown has been completed and the contractors are now proceeding with the erection of customs and wharf offices, foreign and Chinese quarters, also the banding of the property to the building line.

West Pootung is now in a position to handle more steamers than at any time in the past as the two new pontoons, transit sheds and three storeyed godown, referred to at our last meeting, have been in use for some months.

A portion (450 feet) of the new reinforced concrete wharf at East Pootung was completed a few weeks ago, and it is hoped that the two remaining sections will be in operation before our next annual meeting.

When this work is finished we shall be the possessors of a wharf with 25 to 29 feet at low water springs, which has not its equal in Shanghai.

In your seats will be found a revised schedule of the company's properties, which will doubtless prove of interest to shareholders, showing as it does that we own no less than 603½ mow of land, with a river frontage of 7,236 feet and over 2 million square feet of floor space in godowns.

Although we have had numerous enquiries for our property at South Tungkadoo, it has not been possible to dispose of same, as your directors' idea of price is much above what would-be purchasers are prepared to offer. The site is a very desirable one and I have no doubt we shall be able to secure our price with patience.

We have not had any serious trouble with labor during the past year, but in July, August and September it was found expedient to advance coolie hire rates 15 percent owing to the high price of rice.

The re-assessment of land and buildings by the Municipal Council will involve us in greatly increased charges but so long as the cost of labor does not advance we do not propose to alter our present tariff for landing, storing and delivering.

While we have made an encouraging start for 1921 and our earnings from storage will be exceedingly good for a few months—our godowns and open space being full—the present dullness or rather absence of trade throughout the world naturally causes your directors some anxiety, at the same time I venture to hope that now values of most commodities have adjusted themselves to a reasonable level the confidence of consumers will shortly be restored and lead to a resumption of business and that our report for 1921 will be as gratifying as the one under review.

During the year Mr. P. A. Cox resigned from the board on leaving Shanghai, but on his return last month was invited to resume his seat on the directorate.

Messrs. B. C. Richards and H. A. J. Macray resigned on their departure for home and their places have been filled by Messrs. H. W. Lester and C. Biron. Mr. Pan Ching-poo also accepted a seat on the directorate. These elections require your confirmation.

All the directors are eligible and offer themselves for re-election.

There were no questions and the following resolutions were carried unanimously:

Proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. Cox.—That the report and accounts be adopted, that a final dividend of Tls. 10 per share be declared making with the interim dividend of Tls. 3 per share already paid Tls. 13 per share; and that the allocation of the balance of profit and loss account as recommended by the directors be passed.

Proposed by Mr. H. M. Tibbey and seconded by Mr. Brodie A. Clarke: that Messrs. C. Gordon Mackie and P. A. Cox be re-elected directors and that Messrs. H. W. Lester, C. Biron and Pan Ching-poo be elected directors of the company for the ensuing year.

Proposed by Mr. F. J. Burrett and seconded by Mr. C. H. C. Platt: that Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected auditors for the ensuing year.

KOBE ELEVEN WINS 1921 GAME AT YOKOHAMA

Annual Football Match Results In Same Score As When Series Started

The thirty-third annual Interport Association match between teams representing the Kobe Regatta and Athletic Club and the Yokohama Country and Athletic Club was played on the grounds of the Yokohama Club on the 5th instant, and resulted, in a win for the visitors by 2 goals to 1, the same score by which Kobe won the first match of the series in Yokohama in 1888.

The Japan Gazette reports that the weather was dull, and the air chilly, but this did not deter a large number of residents, including many ladies, from lining the ropes, while among the spectators were several supporters of the visiting team.

After the usual photograph, the two teams took the field shortly after three o'clock as follows:

Kobe.—Goal: J. E. Crane; Backs: J. F. Brister, F. J. F. Cullinan; Halves: E. A. Young, R. G. Crane (Capt.), P. J. H. J. Fey; Forwards: W. S. Antill, F. A. W. Handley, S. G. Stanford, C. E. D. Parkhouse, A. McClellan.

Yokohama.—Goal: H. Wilkinson; Backs: F. D. Charles, O. F. Mocock (Capt.); Halves: I. Miranda, G. S. Niven, N. B. Forrest; Forwards: P. T. Hollander, L. Andreis, D. G. Daubeny, J. A. Dixon, J. Mollison.

DIET IN JAPAN TO GIVE SUPPORT TO BASEBALL NINE

Expenses Of Olympic Team Will Probably Be Paid By Government

In order to make it possible to send a baseball team to Shanghai to take part in the Far East Championship Games a bill is to be introduced into the Diet calling for a subsidy from the Japanese Government to defray the expenses of the trip. The Minister of Education is reported to have assured the petitioners that he will give the bill his support.

According to Mr. Nakano who is in charge of selecting the Japanese team, the selection will be made from among all the public baseball players in order to send a strong representative team. In order to make this selection a series of preliminary games are to be played in Osaka and Tokio. The last match to be played for selecting the members of the team will be played in Tokio the latter part of next month between winning teams from Eastern and Western Japan.

PROHIBITION DAY SET FOR MARCH 13

City-Wide Campaign At Tokio Will Include Popular Mass Meetings

March 13 has been set for the launching of a city-wide campaign by the National Temperance Association in Tokio. The day will be called prohibition day.

According to the plans, lecture meetings will be held in Hibiya, Uyeno, Asakusa, and in front of the Miji Shrine. Literature will also be distributed, describing the evils of alcohol.

In this movement many women are expected to participate, under the leadership of Miss Fumi Nishikawa, a leading woman thinker, and Mrs. Yayoi Yoshioka, a well known woman doctor.

The officials of the National Temperance Associations have under contemplation the plan of holding a series of lectures for the benefit of school boys, factory workers, and policemen.

According to the Jiji, more than 500 social utilities associations are affiliated with the National Temperance Association. In Kyoto and Osaka the success attained by the temperance workers is notable, the paper adds.

Speaking to a reporter of the Jiji, Mr. Nemoto, member of the Imperial Diet, who brought up the question of national prohibition in the Lower House for the first time, said: "I introduced my temperance bill in the 14th session of the Diet, and have introduced it every year since then My bill was passed by the Lower House at its 22nd session. Although I have been presenting my bill in the Upper House for the last twenty years, it was defeated at every session Mr. Kakichi Uchida and Baron Sakatani will sponsor my bill in the Upper House this session."

SERUM CURES RABIES

French Discovery Is Said To Be Effective On Humans Also

Paris, Jan. 29.—The discovery of a new serum that is said to cure dogs of rabies almost instantly has been announced by Prof. A. Marie and Prof. Remlinger of the Paris Pasteur Institute. They assert that by vaccination and the use of this new serum animals have not only been instantly cured but afterward were able to resist infection. The new discovery will be equally effective when applied to the human system, they say.

The two scientists have eighteen dogs at a state veterinary school near Paris which after being inoculated with rabies were treated with the new method. They are to be kept isolated for a year.

A Lesson For The Greeks

THE manner and extent of the Allied yielding to Turkey will surprise and shock a good part of the world. One of our contemporaries already has referred to it as a betrayal of the gallant dead of Gallipoli. Yet some settlement along the lines of the Reuter dispatch of yesterday was only to be expected.

Conditions in Europe have undergone many changes in the last few months. Greece has been fighting the Turks and evidently plans to fight them even more vigorously. Further, the Allies are not so friendly towards the Greeks as they were a few months ago. The return of Constantine to the Greek throne by overwhelming invitation of the Greek people could only be regarded by the Allies as a public expression of unfriendliness to them.

In a situation such as then existed it was a case of being friendly or of being unfriendly. There was no middle course. And in this connection it is to be kept in mind that the friendliness of the Allies for Greece had resulted in more than doubling the territorial sovereignty of the Greek nation, and this largely at the expense of defeated Turkey.

Meanwhile the Turkish Government which has its seat in Constantinople has been playing its cards very skillfully. Confronted as it is by an open rebellion on the part of the faction which is working hand in hand with the Russian Soviet Government, it has taken the side of the Allies and has opposed the advance of Bolshevism. It has evidenced a marked friendship for France. It is but natural therefore, that with the Greeks grown cold, the Allies should turn to the Turks. The Greeks probably do not find their present position very pleasant.

Furthermore, it is impossible in any consideration which the Allies may give to this particular near East problem, for them to ignore other problems which exist in the same region. It is impossible for them to segregate any of these problems and deal with them separately, or for them to segregate the whole group of problems, racial, religious and political, and deal with them apart from the weightier questions which affect all of Europe, such as those connoted by Bolshevism and the reparations.

Greece is now threatening a new war and the Germans are planning a program of passive resistance to Allied attempts to enforce payment of the war indemnity. Vis-a-vis the Allies, the Greeks and Germans are in the same boat. Mainly because of the far-sighted leadership of Venizelos, the Greek position was rectified before the war came to an end and the Greek people were thus saved from finding themselves in the very irksome and unprofitable position they otherwise would have been in with the Allies emerging as victors. This narrow escape taught them nothing. They repudiated Venizelos and sent for Constantine and Sophie.

Human nature hasn't changed noticeably in the last few thousand years. If the Greeks had stopped to think about it, they would have come to the conclusion that the Allies, given the chance, would do just about what they have done.

LAWS, LAWYERS AND LEGISLATION

"The Law is an ass" said Dirgberry, but he never had in mind that the law and its interpreters would at any time rule the world. Here we are living in a time when the Law is supreme. It is true that the Bolsheviks would do away with all laws, and impose a freedom that would outlaw every law, but they are gaining little headway against lawyers like Lloyd George, Woodrow Wilson and Mr. Asquith.

The newspaper man will point in triumph to the fact that at last one of his confraternity—viz: Harding—now shares in the ruling of nations but even he has such a respect for the law that he is surrounding himself with folk who both interpret and obey the law.

We talk about "Law and Order." As a matter of fact it is the Law that calls for Order, and it is the lack of order that demands the Law.

And all this leads me up to the point that men of all ages have had something to say about LAWS, LAWYERS, AND LEGISLATION. Here let me give you tit bits from everywhere—and taken at random.

The law of England is the greatest grievance of the nation, very expensive and dilatory.—Burnet.

TROUBLOUS TIMES

"From plague, pestilence and famine; from battle and murder and from sudden death."
Good Lord Deliver Us.
(English Prayer Books)

The plague at Harbin! pestilence and famine in North China! murder and sudden death all over the place.

A LAMENT

Adieu! farewell earth's bliss,
This world uncertain is:
Fond are life's lustful joys,
Death proves them all but toys.
None from his darts can fly:
I am sick, I must die.

* * *

Rich men trust not in wealth,
Gold cannot buy you health;
Physic himself must fade;
All things to end are made;
Famine full swift goes by;
I am sick, I must die.

* * *

Beauty is but a flower,
Which wrinkles will devour:
Brightness falls from the air;
Queens have died young and fair;
Plague hath closed Beauty's eye.
I am sick, I must die.

* * *

Strength stoops unto the grave
Worms feed on coward and brave,
Murder and strife stalk the world,
Satan's own flag is unfurled,
When will it end is our cry?
I am sick, I must die.

Europe's Children Huge Problem

Babies Born Since War Condemned To Hunger, Cold And Neglect—Princess Fears Moral Destruction Of Next Generation

BY PRINCESS BLUCHER

(English Wife Of The Head Of The House of Blucher von Wahlstatt)

Berlin, Jan. 26.—Of all the perplexing and accusing problems confronting us in the turbulent world of our days, the fate of the children daily being born to a future of destitution, proverty and despair is surely the most vexing for all thinking men and women, at home and elsewhere.

All over Europe the spectres of hunger and cold are haunting the homes of the poor, carrying off thousands of small victims in their victorious on-march.

The world is filled with the cry of the children for food and warmth, and numberless little hands are being raised in a helpless appeal for but one tiniest glimpse of the careless, sunny land of childhood which belongs to them by right.

But without glancing further afield than my own immediate neighborhood, be it at the surrounding villages of my own Silesian home or on a cursory inspection of the poorer streets and homes of any larger town I happen to be in for a moment, with a visit here and there to some children's home, I see and hear enough to make me shudder with apprehension at the future awaiting so many little ones born in our own time.

Firstly, what sort of children can women exhausted by years of semi-starvation and other sufferings caused by the war bring into the world? We can see them everywhere, puny little beings; at six months old they are often smaller and weaker than a newly born infant.

SUBJECT TO DISEASE

The homes are filled with such babies, only kept alive by artificial means and devoted care. We all know that tuberculosis is raging among the poor, while rickets and the other maladies following on the want of proper food are undermining the health of the youth of the German nation.

In many poor country districts more than 50 percent of the young girls are falling a prey to phthisis every year, and children of five to six years old can hardly toddle across the room alone.

But the lack of milk and food is not the only privation among the children here; open enough they are absolutely wanting in clothes of any kind and run about in rags.

Ladies devoting their time to social work among the poor tell us there is a distressing need of boots, shoes, warm dresses and underclothes of every description, as during the long war no clothes could be produced in Germany, and the prices now demanded make it impossible for any but the comparatively wealthy to provide themselves with warm clothing for the Winter, and nobody has any cast-off garments to give away now.

Again, for the last six years Germany has been unable to build new dwelling houses of any kind, and, in consequence of the great influx of new inhabitants pouring in from every quarter of the globe, and clamoring for a roof to cover their heads, she is utterly unable to provide suitable shelter for her increasing population, so that, in addition to the physical miseries of hunger and cold, there are all the moral ills attendant on the overcrowding unsanitary conditions of the dwellings of the poor.

BERLIN'S HOUSING TROUBLES

In Berlin alone there are some 30,000 families waiting for an apartment of some kind, many of them rich people. The conditions of the poor are, therefore, indescribable. It is no uncommon thing for families of eight or ten persons to crowd together in one small room.

How, then, are children growing up in the midst of starvation in such an atmosphere ever to develop into healthy and useful members of society at large?

Or what sense of decency and virtue may we expect from a child exposed to the moral contamination existing in evil conditions like these?

However great the misery of the children may be on account of the want which prevents their bodies growing, the spiritual distress on which they vegetate is still greater, inasmuch as it incapacitates them to become able and useful members of human society.

Every child should now be pitied who at the present moment is born or growing up. In the long and arduous times of war most of them were deprived of a father's supervision. Their mothers often were compelled to do the work of both, and, therefore, were unable to look after them as hitherto.. They were entirely left to themselves, and, more often than was good for them, they saw the evil ways which had spread during the years of the war.

They either lost their hold on home and family or, having grown up, were compelled to help in the arduous labor and to assist and alleviate suffering by the work of their small hands.

They became estranged from their homes and lodgings, which they only visited at night time for the purpose of sleep. They scarcely had time for food and were able only to swallow hurriedly the small portions that were put before them.

WAR INCREASED POVERTY

However large may have been, before the war, the circle of those who were compelled to force their children to take part in the work of daily life, it was a comparatively small one, whereas it now has, through the poverty bred by the war-years, grown to an enormous proportion.

Well regulated school hours, during which they would have to behave in an orderly and decent way under the eyes of their masters and teachers, were not to be thought of. Most of the schools were occupied by soldiers.

The children received their instructions in any available covered space. Most of their usual masters were at the front, and the others were often changed from day to day, so that the children could never put any confidence in the ever-changing new faces. Time and again teachers could not be replaced..

Thus, the means of education was taken away from the children either altogether or temporarily. The consequences very soon followed. They became coarse in their manners and habits; thefts by school children and even assaults and robbery in the open thoroughfares were not of rare occurrence.

WHERE WAS THE CHURCH?

"Where was the Church and its influence " will be asked by many. The houses of God! it is true, were better filled than in the pre-war days, but another spirit swept across the country with a blighting blast.

Unbelief, which even before had laid hold of wide circles of the population with its destructive and corroding influence, gradually obtained ever-increasing power over the masses. It was fostered and strengthened by the appalling abuses produced by the guilt of war-profiteers and usurers and every one was compelled rather than suffer want, daily and hourly, to transgress the innumerable "Verfugungen" (war regulations).

The germ of unbelief had necessarily taken root in the small minds of children when grown-ups, without any consideration for them, revelled in abuse and blasphemy in their presence. Then came the upheaval. When peace came without alleviating the sufferings, unbelief increased tenfold. The Church, refuge of all oppressed, had ceased to exist for the little ones, and thus they lost their childlike innocence.

Is it possible to conceive of anything more appalling than a procession of children, such as we saw the other day, parading the streets of Berlin carrying placards and banners in their little hands, bearing inscriptions such as: "Down with Religion; we do not believe all this nonsense! Faith is rot!"

MUST PITY THE CHILDREN

We have thus arrived at the limit of all things every vestige of orderliness, respect and reverence has been obliterated from all these children's hearts to whose future the grown-ups looked forward with fond hope. Not childlike innocence and joy from the heart, but blind hatred and stubborness are reflected in their eyes. Who is there that could seek in them a sense of duty when they hear nothing but rights that are owed them discussed? They should be pitied, for they have lost their sense of home and God. It will be difficult to regain them, but the road must not remain untried.

We must, moreover, remember that it is not a few thousands, but millions of young people, who, holding as they do the future of Europe in their thin hands, are growing up under the influence of circumstances such as these. Sin and crime are familiar to such unfortunate children as are goodness and purity to those of happier lands. They are never young, and already there is a spark of bitter accusation in their dull eyes which ought to give us food for thought. For may not this spark some day grow into a great revengeful flame (responding to the one in Russia) which shall consume all our modern forms of society in a huge conflagration?

Be it as it may, it is certain that we of every country must do our best to alleviate the lot of the little ones who suffer for the sins of their fathers. Can we look on quietly at the physical and moral destruction of the coming generation of Europe: shall we not listen to the call of these helpless little victims?

Spirit Writing

Unconvincing Adventures On A Typewriter

BY RING LANDNER

Pretty near all the papers and magazines you pick up now days is devoting considerable space to the question of whether they's spirits or whether they ain't spirits, and I don't mean alcohol spirits which I guess they's no question about life after death for those kind as old John Barleycorn was suppose to die a yr. ago last month but you can still go to a banquete or a card party and find 50 percent of the guests pretty well haunted. What I refer to is the spirits that they claim is in the human body and keeps on living long after the Knights of Pythias has seen you properly sunk.

Most of the wise crackers laughs and calls it all bunk but they's a few bright minds that has fell for it even in countrys where they still got the kind of liquor that you can get plastered without going cuckoo. Take for inst. Conan Doyle over in England who I don't mean that he drinks, but if he did he could get good stuff, but any way you got to pay some tension to his opinion in these matters in regards to life after death as he spillied Sherlock Holmes into the royal Geo. or somewhere in one book and then brought him back to solve 80 thousand wds. of more mysterys.

But wile I use to eat up Sherlock and always put Conan amongst my favorite authors, still and all his psychic articles didn't never prove nothing to me only that you can go to sleep a whole lot easier reading them than his detective storys. And I ain't even got on desire to belive the stuff that was in that last one I read where it said that some kind of dope flowed out of a medium and formed itself into the shapes of people that had departed and one of the shapes looked like President Wilson with a mustache. If I had 3 wishes the 4th. one would be to die and then trickle out of some medium and get in such shape that I looked like President Wilson with a mustache.

They's no doubt but that Conan is a bright mind and has made a study of the subject and is a expert on it and he believes in it, but that don't mean nothing. Look at the baseball wisenheimers that hadn't did nothing all their life but watch the game or play it and yet they didn't taste nothing sour in a team like Cincinnati knocking a pitcher like Lefty Wins. for 3 goals in a row.

No matter how smart or honest a person is they are libel to go wrong and as far as this baby is conserned I have quit takeing hearsay evidents for anything. For inst. plenty of guys that has apparently got a good mind and they wouldn't lie to me when it didn't get them nothing well plenty of these guys has told me about different photo plays that they said was good, but until I see one that is good I won't believe they is such a thing.

And the same way about spirits. I wouldn't of never believed in them from reading Conan or Mr. Lodge, it took personal experience to win me over and I will tell you about it, not with no idear of making converts but because I guess pretty near everybody is interested in the subject just at this time.

Well the other night I was talking to a friend of mine and we got talking about spirits and etc., and she said a friend of hers had told her about a friend of the gal I was talking to's friend, and this guy had a piece of property that he wanted to get rid of and he got an offer for the property and he set down to write a letter accepting the offer, but when he got all ready to write the pen begin writeing for him and here is what it wrote:

"Don't sell now but wait till the 4 of Jan. and you will gate a offer that is $1,200 more." And the pen signed his old man's name that had died in the real estate business. So the guy waited till the 4 of Jan. and sur enough he got the offer with the $1,200 raise and took it.

So my friend that was telling me about this says:

"That is what they call automatic writeing. It hasn't never happened to me personly but you bet that if it does I will follow the advice they give me. because I heard of another man that was a Yale man and just before the Yale-Princeton game last fall he got wire from a friend of his out west asking him did he want to bet on Yale and he did so he went to the telegraph office to wire and take the bet, and just as he was going to write the telegram the pencil begin moving in his hand and wrote down:

"'Don't bet on Yale.,

"But the man was a unbeleiver so he made the pen write what he wanted it to and took the bet and lost $500."

Well, I said the spirits seemed to have the right dope in both them instants though a whole lot of people that wasn't dead yet had told me to not bet on Yale, but I said it was silly to disregard tips like that when you got them because if they was such a thing as spirits they probably knowed more about things that is going on than we do.

But I says I didn't suppose a experience such as those wold ever come to me as I don't hardly ever use a pen only to sign mortgages. So my friend said she supposed it could happen with a typewritter just as good as a pen or pencil so I come home and didn't think no more about it till the next morning when I set down in front of the typewritter to work.

For over an hr. I set there with my fingers in position to write but not a word come. Then all of a sudden my fingers begin to move and before they stopped they was a sentence wrote on the paper but so dim I couldn't hardly make it out. Here is what it said:

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party and get a new ribbon."

That was what was wrote on the paper and I set there maybe a couple hrs. more but not another word showed up and finely I remembered what happened to the man that took the advice and what happened to thee man that didn't, so I jumped on a train and went to N. Y. city and bought myself a new ribbon and set up most of that night geting it fixed O. K. in the typewriter.

The next day I set down at the desk again and waited and this time it was 2 hrs. before my fingers began to move. The words was a whole lot plainer than the other time and was as follows:

"Don't work today don't work today don't work today."

Three straight days I set there the same length of time and three straight days I got the same advice and followed it to the letter and this is the 4th. day and I have been working but just now my fingers begun to run wild again and this is what they wrote:

"Don't work no more you are all wore out."

"One leads where many follow."

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Hall's Distemper

Gran'father's Tale

"Tell me some more, Gran'father," said the little boy. He sat on a low stool by his grandfather's chair and made the eternal plea of childhood for another story and the same.

"What was that you told about—that thing you called a Saloon I have never seen one."

"No, Billy man," answered grandfather, "and it is well. The Saloon was a strange and evil place."

"But how?"

"When I was a young man I traveled much and sailed the seas. And ashore we boys would go with our money and gather in those places called Saloon

"What did they do there"

"They drank."

"Were they so thirsty from the salt of the ocean?"

"Oh, no. It was not water they drank, but a red and burny stuff called whiskey."

"Was it so good?"

"It was not good. It burned."

"Then why did they drink it?"

"It made them forget. When a man's thoughts are gloomy he would get rid of them. When they drank this stuff they became as those possessed. Some were gay and loud, some became brave and some were seized with sleep."

"Like when I had fever?"

"The same. 'Twas a fever. You see, the whole world had practiced it from generation to generation, and the taking of alcohol had become a short cut to that joy of life that honestly is come by only by health and discipline. Banquets and feastings were loaded with it. Poetry was full of it. Romance and laughter were soaked with it. All human life and imagination stank with it. The rich and noble smiled upon it. And the poor sucked it as a baby's bottle."

"But the Saloon?"

"The Saloon was a sort of store or shop where they sold it, so much a drink. There was one in my youth on almost every street corner of the city. The fronts were gay with colored glass, and at night many lights. There were swinging doors, so that of a man on the other side you could see but his head and feet—why, I do not know."

"Funny!"

"And inside, along one side of the room was what was called the bar, a long wooden counter, behind which stood the barkeeper with his glasses and bottles. Around the bar was a low brass rail on which the drinker rested one foot.

"Why?"

"I have no idea— a part of the place, I suppose, like the steeple on a church. And here men would gather and buy drinks until they became maudlin and obscene, and argued loudly and sang ribald songs, and sometimes fought."

"Did it make them happy?"

"For a while, as crazy people are happy while und[illegible] delusion. After came [illegible] shame, often violence, crime and ruin."

"Are there no Saloons now, Gran'father?"

"None. In the time of the great war the sense of danger opened the people's eyes for a space and they feared for the millions of young men gathered in camps, should there be drink there. So they abolished the Saloon, as once they abolished human slavery. And yet in the the one case as in the other those who urged the reform were ridiculed and called fanatics. And great newspapers and statesmen made much ado about their 'personal liberty' being violated."

There was silence for awhile. Presently the little boy said:

"Gran'father, I think I should like to go into a saloon and get drunk, and say big, bad words, and fight, and everything."

And the grandfather smiled and patted the boy's hand and said, "Yes, yes! You are a terrible fellow."

And they both laughed.

How To Care For The Baby

BY BRICE BELDEN, M.D.

The care and arrangement of the nursery is one of the most important things for a mother to understand in the study of baby hygiene.

Keeping the nursery as clean as possible is the first consideration, and to accomplish this it is necessary to do away with all extra furniture and hangings which might collect dust. Dust is a great germ distributor, and hangings and furniture upholstery catch and hold it. For the same reason nothing should be kept in the vicinity of the baby's crib which cannot be washed.

The amount of sunlight which enters the nursery is important in keeping the baby in a healthy condition. The sun should shine in to the room at least part of the day, as the child spends a great part of his babyhood in the nursery.

The air in the nursery, moreover, should be kept pure by avoiding the practise of drying clothes there, cooking or the lighting of gas at night. A gas light will very soon use up all the oxygen in the room, and a small wax night light is all that is necessary.

Too hot a room must always be avoided, and in the daytime the temperature should not be over seventy degrees. After the third month the window may be left open over night. Children kept in rooms which are too hot are pale and prone to indigestion. They are much more likely than children brought up in properly heated homes to catch cold.

Anecdotes Of The Famous

Distinguished literary men, contrary to popular belief, do not live continually in a cloud of inspiration. They are just like ordinary folk after all. Mark Twain once told a hysterical admirer that he had writer's cramp early in his career. When asked what he took for it he answered "Beefsteak." Samuel Johnson, although not an ordinary man in any of his ideas or habits, took a very commonplace view of his profession. He said that a man was a fool to write for anything but money, and when asked if he did not like to write he answered that it is not pleasant to write, but it is pleasant to have written. An old lady was once talking to James Whitcomb Riley about the poor material reward that comes to poets. "But, Mr. Riley," she said, "you have no cause for complaint. You must be a very rich man. I understand you get a dollar a word for all you write." "Yes madam," said Riley, with his slow drawl, "but sometimes I sit all day and can't think of a single word."

American Peeress In Nile Game Hunt

London, Jan. 29.—An American woman, now a British peeress, may share the distinction of penetrating farther into the African jungle on the banks of the Blue Nile than any white woman has been known to go before, as a result of a big game hunting expedition that has been undertaken by the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland and Lord and Lady Maidstone. Lady Maidstone before her marriage was Margaretta Armstrong Drexel, daughter of Anthony Drexel of the well known Philadelphia family.

The general route of the expedition, as outlined by the Duke of Sutherland, is from Marseilles to Alexandria, from Alexandria to Khartum and thence to Uganda. The Duke declared that they hoped also to see something of the Sudan. A private steamboat has been hired to take the party from Khartum to Uganda. The shooting of big game is our chief object," the Duke declared, "but of course we will be ready for any other adventure that may come our way."

Speaks 6 Languages, But Drives Taxicab

Oxford Man Picks Quaint Occupation In London; Has No Regrets

London, Jan. 29.—There is never any telling what turn a man's mind might take in the matter of earning a living. So it is with Rudolph Rossiter, of Portchester square Mews, Bayswater, who drives a taxicab. But no ordinary cab is this which Mr. Rossiter drives. Indeed it has quickly become known as the "swellest cab in London." Nor is this overstating the fact. Of a distinctive gray, with a three-quarter landaulet body, deep seats, upholstered in Bedford cord and provided with more than thirty brass fittings, including a barometer, Mr. Rossiter's cab certainly outshines anything of its class that does business in Piccadilly.

Then there is the driver, Mr. Rossiter, to be considered. In his heavy fur coat and with his fine face and physique he would be an ornament on the front seat of the most luxurious private turnout.

Upon questioning, Mr. Rossiter admitted that he was an Oxford University man and the master of six languages. But he doesn't regret the step he has taken, for he says that the elegance of his cab is getting him the very finest trade in London, which is a whole lot better than trying to live on six languages.
